LANDING OF SURVIVORS STEAMER CAROLINA.

The Ashland Independent says: Col. T. A. Field and Attorney E. B. Hager are home from Atlantic City, where they represented El Hama Temple at the annual meeting Imperial Council of the Shrine.

Col. Field and Mr. Hager while in Atlantic City were eye witnesses to a scene they can never forget. They saw the lifeboat bring in 29 survivors of the ill-fated steamer Carolina, which was sunk by a U-boat Sunday evening June 3rd. The boat after drifting 14 hours at random on the open sea was rescued by two guards with strong glass and it was towed to shore.

The news of the rescuing of this lifeboat soon spread over Atlantic City and throughout that section, and in a few moments 1000 people had gathered to see the boat come in. As the little boat landed, the first person taken from it was a little girl, Anita Cheney, 11 years old and of Porto Rico, and she led the survivors up the beach to the board walk, the Shriners' band began playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

As the victims of the Hun's wrath passed by, great stalwart men wept, and women grew hysterical. They realized that the sinking of the steamer Carolina was the first big American victim of Germany's submarine frightfulness on this side of the Atlantic.

The women were thinly clad, not being given time to dress, and they were protected from the rough weather by the sailors taking off their top shirts and having the women to put them on.

The Shriners soon grasped the situation and stretching a long line, they carried it through the crowd, and the people so eager to give, if they could not get near enough the flag would toss their money into it, many persons not satisfied with giving once but would want to give again, and so fast did the money roll in that within 30 minutes $1,022.00 was counted in the flag, the Shriners band still playing The Star Spangled Banner and America.

This money was turned over to the Mayor of Atlantic City, who in turn used it to buy clothing for these people and also paid their transportation home, as they had lost clothing, money, tickets and everything they had.

With these 29 survivors was the wife of Chief Justice Hamilton, of Porto Rico. It will be recalled that on the steamer Carolina when sunk there was a total of 260 persons, and that there are 14 persons not yet accounted for and there are hundreds of chasers seeking to avenge the latest work of the Huns.

JUNE 28TH IS WAR SAVINGS DAY

A MEETING AT EVERY SCHOOL
HOUSE AT 2 P. M. WILL BE HELD ON THAT DAY.

The War Savings Stamp plan was originated by the United States officials for at least three purposes:

To impress the people with the importance of saving.

To give everybody, even the children, a real opportunity to help win this war by lending the Government some of their savings.

To raise two billions of dollars for war purposes.

These stamps and certificates are to be on sale at all postoffices and banks and many stores and other places until Dec. 31, 1918. They will mature and be paid back to the owners with four per cent interest compounded on Jan. 1, 1923. If any holder wants his money before that, he can cash in at any time on a basis of three per cent interest. So you are in no danger of buying more than you might be able to carry, because you can cash in at any time. Also, you can not lose it. If registered no one can steal it.

No one is permitted to own more than one thousand dollars worth of War Savings Stamps. But everybody who is able to invest this much should do so. $1,000 worth costs $824. $500 costs $417. $100 worth costs $83.40. A $5.00 certificate costs $4.17.

The Government wants every man and woman to agree to save as much as possible and invest in these W. S. S. each month during the balance of this year. The young men are being called to give up their lives for their country. Those not eligible to lay their lives on the altar are called on only to save and lend their money to their country at compound interest.

How little this is compared to sacrificing our lives.

What dirty slackers we are if we fail to respond gladly and liberally to this call.

When the war shall be over and thousands of homes have craped on the doors, the demand will be made of all—"What did you do to help win the war?" And he who dodged will wish a thousand times he could call back these opportunities. Embittered by sorrow and losses the suffering survivors will not show mercy to the slackers. They have not done so in other wars and will not do so when this worst of all is over.

War Savings Week.

June 14th to 28th has been declared War Savings Week by proclamation of President Wilson and Governor Stanley, as well as the mayors of all cities. During that week people were to be signed by all citizens to buy a specific amount during the year.

Friday, June 28th, is to be the great day on which every man and woman is called to meet at the school houses in their respective districts, to hear the reports and to complete the work. The roll of the districts will be called at this meeting and the record preserved.

The 28th is to be a big day throughout the United States. Stores are to be closed. Business is to give way to this great patriotic piece of work, especially at the hour of the public meetings, starting at 2 o'clock and lasting from one to two hours. One hour should be enough at most places. Help your district to reach its quota, which will be announced later.

A very strong letter from the pastor of Bland Street Church, Bluefield, W. Va., was read.

The burial took place in the cemetery on Pine Hill.

McClure publicly and feelingly expressed at the funeral the appreciation of the relatives for the kindness shown Jeff by Bluefield friends during his last days, and for those who spent their time and money in accompanying the remains to Louisa. HEAVY FIGHTING CONTINUES IN FRANCE

GERMANS MAKE SMALL GAINS.
AT HIGH COST—LOSSES ARE NEAR 700,000 SINCE MARCH.

Since our last issue the Germans have made one drive on a 20-mile front and at some points penetrated the French and British lines as much as two and a half miles, but with very heavy losses. They were then stopped by the slaughter. Several other attempts were made, but all have failed. The Americans have done fine work, driving back the Germans with heavy losses, and capturing many men and guns. They have taken some important high ground. The fiercest fighting continues day and night.

On Wednesday the French found the Germans preparing for a big battle at one front. They immediately attacked the Germans, surprising them and driving them back with heavy losses, and upsetting the plans of attack.

U. S. troops are pouring in by the thousands every day. The crisis is still on and there is some fear expressed that the Germans may reach Paris, although the military authorities say not. Some of the bloodiest fighting of the war is ahead of us.

The Russian people are calling for help to save her from the German oppression that is already being oppressively applied.

Battleship Sunk.
One of the most daring and successful feats of the war was the work of two small Italian torpedo boats that sneaked in amongst the Austrian warships and torpedoed two of the big ones. One sank and the other was damaged. The Italian boats returned safely to their own base.

JOHN HAY, AGE 85.
Mr. John Hay died at Masie, this county, a few days ago at the advanced age of 85 years. Cancer was the cause of his death.

Until recently he was active for a man of his years. He made his home with his son, W. A. Hay, and it was there he died. The body was laid to rest by the side of his wife who died a few years ago. Mr. Hay was one of the county's best citizens, was a faithful member of the Baptist Church. The funeral will be preached at a date yet to be fixed. All five sons and three daughters were present when the father passed away. Two daughters who live in Portsmouth, were not present. M. A. Hay, ex-county clerk, is one of the sons.

BIG PIKE COUNTY CASE IS REVERSED.

The Appellate Court reversed the Pike Circuit Court in the case of Lawrence Tierney Coal Company against Jake Smith's guardian and others. The court decided that so much of the act of 1916 which provided that the Circuit court has authority to lease the mineral, gas and other properties of infants and persons of unsound mind for a term of years beyond their minority, is void. In this case Jesse D. Cash, guardian for Octavia Smith, Jake Smith and Ike Smith, leased the land left them by their father, Jacob Smith, to the coal company for a term of 40 years with the authority to renew the lease for an additional 40 years. The children were to receive $5,000 the first year, $10,000 the second year and $15,000 for each additional year. The Court says that such a law is unconstitutional and void.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Gas Attacks and Spies.

Three days after we had silenced Fritz, the Germans sent over gas. It did not catch us unawares, because the wind had been made, to order, that is, it was blowing from the German trenches toward ours at the rate of about five miles per hour.

Warnings had been passed down the trench to keep a sharp lookout for gas. We had a new man at the periscope, on this afternoon in question: I was sitting on the fire step, cleaning my rifle, when he called out to me:

"There's a sort of greenish, yellow cloud rolling along the ground out in front. It's coming—"

But I waited for no more, grabbing my bayonet, which was detached from the rifle, I gave the alarm by banging an empty shell case, which was hanging near the periscope. At the same instant, gongs started ringing down the trench, the signal for Tommy to don his respirator, or smoke helmet, as we call it.

Gas travels quickly, so you must not stop any time; you generally have about eighteen or twenty seconds in which to adjust your gas helmet.

A gas helmet is made of cloth, treated with chemicals. There are two windows, or glass eyes, in it, through which you can see. Inside there is a rubber-covered tube, which goes in the mouth. You breathe through your nose; the gas, passing through the cloth helmet, is neutralized by the action of the chemicals. The foul air is exhaled through the tube in the mouth, this tube being so constructed that it prevents the inhaling of the outside air or gas. One helmet is good for five hours of the strongest gas. Each Tommy carries two of them slung around his shoulder in a waterproof canvas bag. He must wear this bag at all times, even while sleeping. To change a defective helmet, you take out the new one, hold your breath, pull the old one off, placing the new one over your head, tucking in the loose ends under the collar of your tunic.

For a minute, pandemonium reigned in our trench—Tommy's adjusting their helmets, bombers running here and there, and men turning out of the dugouts with fixed bayonets, to man the fire step.

Re-enforcements were pouring out of the communication trenches.

Our gun's crew were busy mounting the machine gun on the parapet and bringing up extra ammunition from the dugout.

German gas is heavier than air and soon fills the trenches and dugouts, where it has been known to lurk for two or three days, until the air is purified by means of large chemical sprayers.

We had to work quickly, as Fritz generally follows the gas with an infantry attack.

A company man on our right was too slow in getting on his helmet; he sank to the ground, clutching at his throat, and after a few spasmodic gasps he went West (died). It was horrible to see him die, but we were powerless to help him. In the corner of a traverse, a little, muddy old dog, one of the company's pets, was lying dead, with his paws over his nose.

It's the animals that suffer the most—the horses, mules, cattle, dogs, cats and rats—they having no helmets to save them. Tommy does not sympathize with rats in a gas attack.

At times gas has been known to travel, with dire results, fifteen miles behind the lines.

A gas, or smoke helmet, as it is called, at the best is a vile-smelling thing, and it is not long before one gets a violent headache from wearing it.

Our eighteen-pounders were bursting in No Man's Land, in an effort, by the artillery, to disperse the gas clouds.

The fire step was lined with crouching men, bayonets fixed, and bombs near at hand to repel the expected attack.

Our artillery had put a barrage of curtain fire on the German lines, to try and break up their attack and keep back re-enforcements.

I trained my machine gun on their trench and its bullets were raking the parapet.

Then over they came, bayonets glinting. In their respirators, which have a large snout in front, they looked like some horrible nightmare.

All along our trench, rifles and machine guns spoke, our shrill whistles bursting over their heads. They went down in heaps, but new ones took the places of the fallen. Nothing could stop that mad rush. The Germans reached our barbed wire, which had previously been demolished by their shells, then it was bomb against bomb, and the death for all.

Suddenly my head seemed to burst from a loud "crack" in my ear. Then my head began to swim, throat got dry, and a heavy pressure on the lungs warned me that my helmet was leaking. Turning my gun over to No. 2, I changed helmets.

The trench started to wobble like a snake, and sandbags appeared to be floating in the air. The noise was horrible; I sank onto the fire step, needles seemed to be pricking my flesh, then blackness.

I was awakened by one of my mates removing my smoke helmet. How delicious that cool, fresh air felt in my lungs.

A strong wind had arisen and dispersed the gas. They told me that I had been "out" for three hours; they thought I was dead.

The attack had been repulsed after a hard fight. Twice the Germans had gained a foothold in our trench, but had been driven out by counter-attacks. The trench was filled with their dead and ours. Through a periscope I counted eighteen dead Germans in our wire; they were a ghastly sight in their horrible-looking respirators.

I examined my first smoke helmet. A bullet had gone through it on the left side, just grazing my ear. The gas had penetrated through the hole made in the cloth.

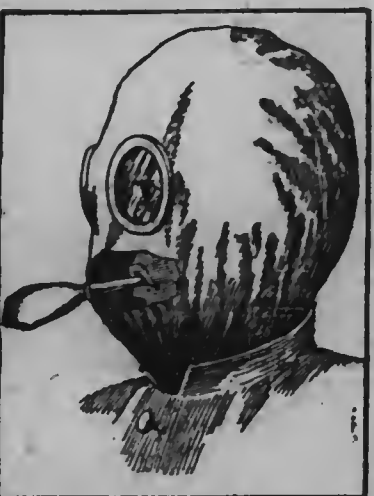

Out of our crew of six we lost two killed and two wounded.

That night we buried all of the dead, excepting those in No Man's Land. In death there is not much distinction; friend and foe are treated alike.

After the wind had dispersed the gas the R. A. M. C. got busy with their chemical sprayers, spraying out the dugouts and low parts of the trenches to dissipate any fumes of the German gas which may have been lurking in same.

Two days after the gas attack I was sent to division headquarters. In answer to an order requesting that captains of units should detail a man whom they thought capable of passing an examination for the divisional intelligence department.

Before leaving for this assignment I went along the front-line trench saying good-by to my mates and bidding them over them, telling them that I had clicked a cushy job behind the lines, and how sorry I felt that they had to stay in the front line and argue out the war with Fritz. They were envious but still good-natured, and as I left the trench to go to the rear they shouted after me:

"Good luck, Yank, old boy; don't forget to send up a few fags to your old mates."

I promised to do this and left.

I reported at headquarters with sixteen others and passed the required examination. Out of the sixteen applicants four were selected.

I was highly elated because I was, I thought, in for a cushy job back at the base.

The next morning the four reported to division headquarters for instructions. Two of the men were sent to large towns in the rear of the lines with an easy job. When it came our turn the officer told us we were to men and had passed a very creditable examination.

My tin hat began to get too small for me, and I noted that the other man, Atwell by name, was sticking his chest out more than usual.

The officer continued: "I think I can use you two men to great advantage in the front line. Here are your orders and instructions, also the pass which gives you full authority as special M. P. detailed on intelligence work. Report at the front line according to your instructions. It is risky work and I wish you both the best of luck."

My heart dropped to zero and Atwell's face was a study. We saluted and left.

That wishing us the "best of luck" sounded very ominous in our ears; if he had said "I wish you both a swift and painless death" it would have been more to the point.

When we had read our instructions we knew we were in for it good and plenty.

What Atwell said is not fit for publication, but I strongly seconded his opinion of the war, army and divisional headquarters in general.

After a bit our spirits rose. We were full-fledged spy-catchers, because our instructions and orders, said so.

We immediately reported to the nearest French estiminet and had several glasses of muddy water, which they called beer. After drinking our beer we left the estiminet and hailed an empty ambulance.

After showing the driver our passes we got in. The driver was going to the part of the line where we had to report.

How the wounded ever survived a ride in that ambulance was inexplicable to me. It was worse than riding on a gun carriage over a rock road.

One of the Big Guns Barking.

The driver of the ambulance was a corporal of the R. A. M. C., and he had the "wind up" that is, he had an aversion to being under fire.

I was riding on the seat with him while Atwell was sitting in the ambulance, with his legs hanging out of the back.

As we passed through a shell-decayed village a mounted military policeman stopped us and informed the driver to be very careful when we got out on the open road, as it was very dangerous, because the Germans lately had acquired the habit of sniping it.

The corporal asked the trooper if there was any other way around, and was informed that there was not. Upon this he got very nervous and wanted to turn back, but we insisted that he proceed and explained to him that he would get into serious trouble with his commanding officer if he returned without orders; we wanted to ride, not walk.

From his conversation we learned that he had recently come from England with a draft and had never been under fire, hence his nervousness.

We convinced him that there was not much danger, and he appeared greatly relieved.

When we at last turned into the open road we were not so confident. On each side there had been a line of trees, but now, all that was left of them were torn and battered stumps. The fields on each side of the road were dotted with recent shell holes, and we passed several in the road itself.

We had gone about half a mile when a shell came whistling through the air and burst in a field about three hundred yards to our right. Another soon followed this one and burst on the edge of the road about four hundred yards in front of us.

I told the driver to throw in his speed clutch, as we must be in sight of the Germans. I knew the signal; that battery was ranging for us, and the quicker we got out of its zone of fire the better. The driver was trembling like a leaf, and every minute I expected him to pile us up in the ditch.

I preferred the German fire.

In the back Atwell was holding onto the straps for dear life, and was singing at the top of his voice:

We beat you at the Marne,
We beat you at the Aisne,
We gave you hell at Neuve Chapelle,
And here we are again.

Just then we hit a small shell hole and nearly capsized. Upon a loud yell from the rear I looked behind, and there was Atwell sitting in the middle of the road, sinking his hat in his equipment, which he had taken off upon getting into the ambulance, was strung out on the ground, and his rifle was in the ditch.

I shouted to the driver to stop, and in his nervousness he put on the brakes. We nearly pitched out of the ambulance. But the applying of those brakes saved our lives. The next instant there was a blinding flash and a deafening report. All that I remember is that I was flying through the air, and wondering if I would land in a soft spot. Then the lights went out.

When I came to, Atwell was pouring water on my head out of his bottle. On the other side of the road the corporal was sitting, rubbing a lump on his forehead with his left hand, while his right arm was bound up in a blood-soaked bandage. He was moaning very loudly. I had an awful headache and the skin on the left side of my face was full of gravel and the blood was trickling from my nose.

But that ambulance was turned over in the ditch and was perforated, with holes from fragments of the shell. One of the front wheels was slowly revolving, so I could not have been "out" for a long period.

The shells were still screaming overhead, but the battery had raised its fire and they were bursting in a little wood about half a mile from us.

Atwell spoke up, "I wish that officer hadn't wished us the best of luck." Then he commenced swearing. "I couldn't help laughing, though my head was nigh to bursting."

Slowly rising to my feet I felt myself all over to make, sure that there were no broken bones. But outside of a few bruises and scratches I was all right. The corporal was still moaning, big more from shock than pain. A shell splinter had gone through the flesh of his right forearm. Atwell and I, from our first-aid pouches, put a tourniquet on his arm to stop the bleeding and then gathered up our equipment.

dropped in a battery, on a machine gun or even near a dugout, this spy was bluffed.

The rumor gained such strength that an order was issued for all troops to immediately place under arrest anyone answering to the description of the spy.

Atwell and I were on the qui vive. We constantly patrolled the trenches at night, and even in the day, but the spy always eluded us.

One day while in a communication trench, we were horrified to see our brigadier general, Old Pepper, being brought down by a big private of the Royal Irish rifles. The general was walking in front, and the private with fixed bayonet was following in the rear.

We saluted the general as he passed us. The Irishman had a broad grin on his face and we could scarcely believe our eyes—the general was under arrest. After passing a few feet beyond us, the general turned, and said in a wrathful voice to Atwell:

"Tell this d—n fool who I am. He's arrested us as a spy."

Atwell was speechless. The sentry batted in with:

"None o' that gassin' out o' you. Back to headquarters you goes, Mr. Fritz. Open that face o' yours again, an' I'll dent in your nasper with the butt o' me rifle."

The general's face was a sight to behold. He was fairly boiling over with rage, but he shut up.

Atwell tried to get in front of the sentry to explain to him that it really was the general he had under arrest, but the sentry threatened to run his bayonet through him, and would have done it, too. So Atwell stepped aside, and remained silent. I was nearly bursting with suppressed laughter. One word, and I would have exploded. It is not exactly diplomatic to laugh at your general in such a predicament.

The sentry and his prisoner arrived at brigade headquarters with disastrous results to the sentry.

The joke was that the general had personally issued the order for the spy's arrest. It was a habit of the general to walk through the trenches on rounds of inspection, unattended by any of his staff. The Irishman, being new in the regiment, had never seen the general before, so when he came across him alone in a communication trench, he promptly put him under arrest. Brigadier generals wear a red band around their caps.

Next day we passed the Irishman tied to the wheel of a limber, the beginning of his sentence of twenty-one days, hard punishment No. 1. Never before have I seen such a woe-begone expression on a man's face.

For several days, Atwell and I made ourselves scarce around brigade headquarters. We did not want to meet the general.

The spy was never caught.

LAWRENCE COUNTY BOY WRITES FROM DELAWARE.

Editor Big Sandy News,

Dear Sir:—While thinking perhaps a number of the readers of your paper would like to hear something from the Lawrence county boys that left Louisa May 22 for Ft. Thomas, I will attempt to try and give a little news from the boys since our induction into military service.

On reaching Ashland we were served box lunches by the Y. M. C. A. which were very much appreciated by us and we went to extend our thanks to the good people of Ashland for their kindness in preparing lunches for us.

Our special left Ashland at 2:00 p. m., and we arrived at Ft. Thomas about 7:00 p. m.

We were met at the R. R. point by officers in charge and marched out to the camp. It commenced raining and we were drenched to the skin and that was our first lesson in soldier life.

We were then marched to the mess hall, given mess kits and had supper.

After supper we went through all the preliminary work which is necessary to ascertain if we were physically qualified to be one of Uncle Sam's boys. It was about 3:00 a. m. before we finished the preliminary work, so we retired about 4:30 a. m.

The next day we were marched down to the supply department and received our khaki suits and necessary equipment which completed our initiation into military service. On the following day we took a special train from Newport to Wilmington, Del. The train carried about 500 or 600 Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee boys. We had lunches on train and were served lunches by the Red Cross at two or three points which was very much appreciated by the boys.

I want to say for the Lawrence county boys we are certainly glad to hear of old Lawrence going over the top in the Red Cross drive and we are sure she will continue to go over the top in regard to anything she is called upon to help and this mighty struggle for democracy.

In regard to our trip to Wilmington, we were about 24 hours enroute. Upon arriving here we were placed under quarantine for three weeks as we have never seen much of the town. The boys seem well satisfied with their location on the headwaters of Delaware Bay, and are enjoying soldier life as well as could be expected.

This is a small camp and we are living in tents and enjoying a healthy outdoor life, drilling about six hours each day.

I want to say to the relatives of the Lawrence county boys, we are not doing fine and enjoying the best of health.

Wishing the Big Sandy News, its readers, and the Lawrence county people the best of success, I am,

Very truly,
CURTIS C. QUEEN,

Co. A, 50th Infantry, 1st Bat., Wilmington, Del., June 2, 1918.

GERMANS DON'T LIKE TO THINK ABOUT AMERICANS.

Paris, June 1.—The avoiron by the Germans of the use of the word "American" in the official announcements of the loss of Catigny is widely commented upon in the French press. The intrinsigence, for instance, after pointing out the communique mentioned merely "the enemy" as having occupied Catigny, remarks that "American" is a word the Germans dislike to pronounce.

"America," comments the newspaper, is the great menace they are seeking to avoid. We seeing the effect of the word on the Germans, rally closer around the device, count on America."

GLENWOOD

Farmers in this vicinity are blessed with plenty of rain and sunshine. The Irish potato crop is safe, the pasture fields are covered with grass and the cattle are making wonderful gains in flesh. Those who sowed wheat are in the swim as the crop is excellent. Corn is looking fine and if the farmers can get a few days dry to plow the outlook is promising.

Mr. E. B. Belcher, of Jacksonville, Fla., was the guest of his brother, G. B. Belcher, overnight on his way to Iowa. He has been in the secret service for a number of years and has now accepted a position with the American Slicing Machine Co., as general manager for the state of Iowa. Eugene has seen a large portion of the continent, having served his country in the Spanish-American War, as a soldier, also, was a foreman as electrician in the Government drilling department in the building of the Culebra Cut in Panama, and did service for his Government in Canada. His many friends in the Big Sandy Valley wish him success in his new change of business.

Mr. W. M. Taylor, our sheriff, and family from Louisa was visiting their old home at Glenwood, Ky., Sunday.

Jolly Taylor, of Grayson, passed up our valley with a nice bunch of cattle this week.

Ed Taylor, our deputy sheriff, has been calling on several of the boys this week getting ready for grand jury coming week.

The Belcher Stock Farm had the misfortune to lose two of their Registered Shorthorn Cattle by lightning this week. They carry on their herd an insurance policy, which will partly cover the loss. One of the animals killed was a 2yr old heifer, promising and high class, which is a great loss to the herd. The appraisers of this animal were Jas. Taylor and O. W. Handley, the value of the animal fixed by them was $150. The other animal killed was a young bull calf appraised by Jas. Taylor and John S. Riffe at $100.

Mr. D. G. R. Poteet is on the sick list and we are sorry to say that he is no better at this date.

Dr. J. T. Hall and G. B. Belcher motored to Ashland Saturday on business.

Mrs. Fred Thornberry and several others from this place attended the funeral of Mrs. Elawick at Garretts Chapel Thursday.

Rob Johnson will teach the Glenwood school.

Mr. Frank Adkins was visiting Cap Adkins this week.

V. B. Shortridge and Walter Miller were motoring in Boyd county Saturday.

Cattle merchants are plentiful and the majority of all the cattle are contracted for fall delivery, at a good price.

Hogs are scarce and high; so are sheep and lambs.

The cat crop in the East Fork Valley bids fair to be a good one.

FULTZ

There was a big funeral meeting at this place last Sunday, June 9th. The crowd was so large they had services in J. M. Cooksey's yard. It was one of the greatest meetings that was ever known at Fultz. Many of the young folks of this place are planning a trip to Camp Taylor about the third Sunday to see their friends and relatives who are there.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Littleton, of Hatching, were visiting home folks on Sunday.

Misses Elsie and Goldie Whitt were visiting the Littleton sisters last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Jim Cooksey, who has been to see her mother who is very ill, returned home Saturday.

Jettie Watson is planning a trip to Lawrence county real soon.

Bessie Cooksey was calling on Laura Ison Sunday afternoon.

The Sunday school of this place is largely attended.

Rosecoe Lyons, who is at Garrison W. Va., is expected at this place to spend the 4th of July with his friends. Many weddings are expected at Fultz when the war is over.

YATESVILLE.

The only drilling for oil that is going on in our oil field is that of the Ohio Fuel on the land of Albert Copley and the Big Blaine Co., on the land of Mrs. W. T. Kane, but the pumping is going at it strong. The air compressor which is located on the land of Clem Short is pumping 18 different wells, besides all the other wells in the lower end of the field toward Fallsburg, that is being pumped with other machinery and the reports are that the production of all the wells in the entire field is about the same as at the beginning.

William Riley, one of our neighbors, is on the sick list and Rev. R. F. Rice of whose condition we made mention some time ago, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Carter made a business trip to Ashland Friday.

Morgans Creek had an ice cream supper Saturday night from which a very satisfactory sum was realized.

We have not learned for what purpose the proceeds will be used, but suppose it will go for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Farmers are crowding their work as best they can and the season has been a fine one so far and the outlook for the growing crops was never better at this time of year, especially the corn, cotton and melons. The wheat crop is very small acreage in this section.

The Sabbath school at this place is progressing nicely with Jay Short as superintendent.

The court goers have not been so numerous this court as usual at least not on this road. The people are all very busy in their crops.

The roads are all in dreadful shape in this section. Your scribe and a neighbor went and made one passable one of the worst mudholes that was on the road, but there are plenty more just like it was. One is where the road is in a lane and is about 18 feet long and about four feet deep and extends exactly from fence to fence on each side. All of the travelers in either automobiles, buggies or wagons, call it the complete cutoff.

There is only one miner at work in our mines at the present, and he is furnishing the coal to run one drilling rig and a pumping station.

Country Greenhorn.

LEDOCIO AND ADAMS.

Died, on the 6th of June, 1918, Rev. Kelly Fraley of Adams. His illness had been long, being confined to his bed since October, 1917, and we feel sure death was welcomed by him. He leaves a wife and six children; to mourn their loss, but their loss is his gain.

Funeral services were conducted by the Revs. Burns Conley, of Paintsville and W. M. Copley of Adams at Mr. Fraley's home on Thursday. After services the body was taken to Ledocio to the family burying ground and there laid to sleep the peaceful sleep till the dead in Christ shall rise. To the loved ones of Rev. Friday, June 14, 1918.

Friday, June 14th, is Flag Day. All communities are asked to observe it by raising flags.

Ex-President Taft advocates starting an offensive against Germany on the Russian side, and it is said something is being done by the Allies looking toward such action. This would divide Germany's forces again.

Lawrence county has a quota to meet in the sale of War Savings Stamps. The U. S. officials expect that the subscriptions be closed for the full quota by June 28th. The purchases may be made any time during 1918.

Germany is the highway robber among nations. When she wants coal lands, iron deposits, or more territory, she goes out like the worst type of murdering highwayman and takes it by force. It is a greater crime for a nation to do this than it is for an individual. The German ruler says war is profitable to Germany and to prove it he points to the war of 1870, when they robbed France of the rich Alsace-Lorraine territory. Yes, robbery is profitable to the highwayman also; if there is no one able to punish him. No peace agreement should be entered into with these German murderers and outlaws. They must be put out of business.

Hon. W. J. Fields has announced his candidacy for re-election to Congress from this, the ninth Kentucky District. Being a leading member of the Military Committee of the House, one of the most important in Congress, he is held in Washington constantly by his duties. It is believed he will have a clear field this year, as the people seem generally to have accepted the President's call to sidetrack politics and help win the war.

Mr. Fields is one of the most loyal and conscientious servants the people have in Washington. The Administration has shown its faith in him by placing some very important special work in his hands. He is right on the job all the time, and this means more than it ever meant before in the history of this country, there being so much more important work to be done. Being a man of correct habits he is always fit and has nothing to distract him. Mr. Fields has the respect of all his colleagues. He possesses a fine stock of real brains, he can hold his own with the best of them in debate, he knows his duties and has the courage and disposition to perform them. He could not be induced to do a dishonorable thing nor to betray the slightest trust. In short, he is a highly satisfactory Representative and one who can be depended upon to do the right thing at all times. He came up from the ranks by his own strenuous efforts, making good at every step and developing all the time for higher service. He is truly a man of the people and one whose services are badly needed in Washington during this great crisis.

Speed of Americans

With the American Army in France, June 7.—A wild dash by an American ammunition train on the day of June 2 helped save the day for the Americans blocking the road from Chateau-Thierry to Paris.

It was only one of many such incidents recalling the amazing speed with which certain American organizations went into action in the big battle.

Twelve hours after marching orders had been received the leading units began arriving behind the Marne line, after traveling a distance which it is not permitted to give for military reasons.

The night of the 31st, when the first arrivals were detaining, the French commander urged the Americans to get in line at once, as the Germans were advancing on the Chateau-Thierry-Paris road.

At midnight Americans threw in emergency troops carrying 100 rounds of ammunition each, with two days' rations.

These immediately entered action helping to block the enemy's progress.

The following day engineers arrived and the work of entrenching began.

On the night of the first of June the French commander reported a gap of more than two and a half miles near the Gandelu-Montigny line, where a German attack was expected at any moment.

A large number of Americans—figures are withheld for military reasons—were aroused from sleep and sent into the gap.

Shortly after daylight June 2, a call came for ammunition. The nearest point where it could be obtained at that time was 45 miles away.

Still speed records must be broken, was the substance of the order from the American chief of staff. He gave the ammunition train until early afternoon to make good.

Thereupon 32 huge trucks protected by officers in a touring car and blowing their sirens at full blast warning traffic out of the way, dashed along the French highway at the rate of 25 miles, careening from side to side and throwing columns of dust. The trip was completed and the ammunition loaded and unloaded, within a space of 13 hours.

By noon of the next day the American artillery was in position, supporting the American marines and infantry.

CHAS. BAYES WOUNDED
IN A FRENCH RAID

LAWRENCE COUNTY SOLDIER
TELLS OF HIS THRILLING EXPERIENCE IN FRANCE.

The following letter from Charley Bayes, of Yatesville, Lawrence county, was written May 16 in France and is very interesting. He was reported as wounded and later we heard he was dead and we are glad to know he is alive and will get well. The letter was addressed to Miss Emma Caines, Potter:

U. S. A. Base Hospital No. 21,
APO No. 732 A. 12 P.

Dear Emma:
I suppose that ever since I came away to join the army you've been thinking about how long it would be before I'd be getting into a hospital somewhere.

Well—I'm in a hospital now and probably will be for a few weeks longer—but I guess I'm a lot better off here than a great many others, anyway. It was a case of fighting a pretty stiff fight or being taken prisoner by the Germans and we decided to fight, even though it wasn't the easiest fight we've been in.

Our detachment was working in different places in the trench we were holding. Some of us had our guns right handy and some of us didn't. The Germans stole up on us and pulled a surprise raid, giving the gas alarm and tried to round all of us up in a group. They thought they had a nice little gang of Americans to take back to camp as prisoners.

But they had another guess coming. Our Lieutenant—he's here in the same hospital, started the fight and every last man in the detachment, with or without his gun started to give battle. We kept right on fighting until we had the Huns beaten off; some of them killed, some captured and the others beat it back to their own lines. They didn't get so much as a single prisoner for their effort.

Their company in their own trenches were throwing hand grenades into our trenches during the fight and one of them exploded just a little too close to me. When it was all over the doctors found a couple of holes through both of my legs and through one arm. All that happened on April 14th and since then I've been in the hospitals.

First they took me to a French hospital where they operated and took out the metal that had gotten in there. It was necessary for them to take a lot of stitches in my legs and arm; but the job was done as well as I might ask a surgeon at home to do it for me.

When I was improved quite a bit they sent me back here to this hospital and I've been here since Sunday, May 12. This hospital is run by doctors, nurses and men from Syracuse, where I was in camp last summer and from Youngstown, Ohio.

I wish I could tell you more about the place—they tell me it's a beautiful summer resort. Before the war the Shah of Persia and the countless and other nobility used to come here for the summer. We are sleeping in a room that used to be a private dining room and some place it is, too.

There is a big theater here, run by the Red Cross and when I'm able to go I'm going over there to see real American movies and the other entertainments they put on over there almost every night in the week.

There's not much else to write to you now. When my legs are better so I can sit up in bed for more than a little while at a time I'll write you another letter—myself. This one is being written for me by one of the Syracuse boys connected with the hospital.

CHARLEY P. BAYS.

HALF MILLION RED CROSS
SEALS TO BE SUPPLIED.

In preparation for the Christmas drive $500,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals are now being printed, according to an announcement made by the National Tuberculosis Association from its headquarters in New York City Monday morning. This is by far the greatest number ever issued and the objective in view is at least to double last year's sale, which as shown by a tabulation now completed, totaled over 175,000,000, or 60 per cent more than in any year previous.

Owing to new problems directly or indirectly due to the war, the present announcement points out, the demands upon the national, state and local anti-tuberculosis associations have greatly increased, and additional funds sufficient to deal with these problems along curative and preventive lines must be secured. For such funds the associations are dependent chiefly upon the income derived from the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, under a cooperative arrangement by which the American Red Cross allows proceeds to be devoted to the furtherance of the campaign against tuberculosis throughout the United States.

The design of this year's seal, made by Charles A. Winter, a New York artist, is new and timely, linking the war with America is now waging with the war against tuberculosis. Liberty, personified as a goddess, is in arms, but in her right hand still holds aloft a blazing torch, standing alike for the undying spirit of freedom and for the healing of disease. A red cross carries its patent message of mercy, and holly leaves represent the spirit of Christmas. The colors are red, green and brown-black on a white field.

DRAFT BOARDS MUST
REVISE THE LISTS

ORDER FROM WASHINGTON WILL RE-CLASSIFY THE MEN, WITH MANY CHANGES.

Washington, June 7.—With the double purpose of increasing the number of men available for military service, and of insuring fairer administration of the selective service law, Provost Marshal General Crowder today telegraphed governors of all states, asking immediate re-investigation of the draft classification lists everywhere.

By "blacker marriages" and ungrounded claims of right to industrial or agricultural exemption, General Crowder believes, some registrants have imposed upon the burdened local boards to escape service, while in other districts an application of the regulations has been perhaps stricter than is intended. The Governor and the local agents are asked to investigate, and upon evidence to ask boards to reclassify men. Assistance of the public through supplying information to the boards is also asked.

Farm Laborers Are Next.

It was said today that with the gradual exhaustion of class 1 unskilled farm laborers whom the boards have been allowed to place at its bottom, will have to go to cantonments. There will be no change in this policy, and the only relief, it is declared, will come from enforcement of the work or fight order generally.

Thousands of men now in class 4 should be put in class 1 and 2, the Provost Marshal said. The instructions also ordered investigations to determine if any men have been erroneously put in the upper classes when they should have been placed in those lower down.

Provost Marshal General Crowder also announced that the class of 1918 registrants will not be allowed to enlist in the navy or marine corps, and that no voluntary inductions will be granted until order and serial numbers have been assigned.

After numbers are assigned, registrants may enlist if they obtain certificates from their local boards stating they are not within the board's current quota.

It is expected that the rearrangement will bring into class 1 more than 500,000 men.

Cases where registrants were married after passage of the draft act will be carefully considered and if evidence warrants classification in class 1 the boards will proceed to reclassify them. Married men whose wives have sustaining incomes probably will be reclassified.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE
MEETS IN PIKEVILLE.

The Ashland District Conference will convene at Pikeville June 18 at 9 a. m. The members of this conference are the 27 pastors, four superannuated preachers, 24 local preachers and 104 laymen—four from each charge. A bishop, or in his absence, the presiding elder is president. The preachers and laymen have the same privileges.

Rev. H. K. Moore, of Prestonsburg, will deliver the opening sermon Monday evening. All the preachers and delegates can reach Pikeville Monday evening on the Big Sandy train, but not in time for the preaching services. All local preachers are expected to be present or to have a written report of the work they have done, with a request for the renewing of their license to preach.

Bishop Darlington will be present and guide the business of the conference part of the time. It is hoped he will give us some echoes from the doings of the General Conference. He will also represent the cause of Christian Education.

Rev. H. G. Sowards, president of Sandy Valley Seminary at Paintsville, will represent that school which must have our support.

Rev. C. A. Slaughter will make an address on Missions in the Western Virginia Conference and elsewhere.

Rev. J. R. Mullins and F. M. Thornburg, S. S. field secretary, will represent the Sunday school interests.

Rev. A. F. Keyser will speak on the organization and benefits of the Wesley Bible Class.

Epworth Leagues will be represented by H. G. Sowards and others.

We hope to have with us W. D. Smith, Parkersburg, W. Va., who is our conference lay leader, to be present the laymen's work.

Church extension and the Woman's Missionary work will be represented by their representatives.

There are several young men recommended to this Conference for license to preach and some to be recommended to the Annual Conference for the traveling ministry. Also, eight laymen will be elected delegates to the annual conference which meets in Logan, W. Va., Sept. 4. Bishop Hendrix will be president of this conference and will give the preachers their appointments for 1918 and 1919.

All 27 pastors, local preachers and delegates are expected to get to Pikeville on Monday June 17 and to be ready for committee work conference work and worship.

We hope the conference will be an occasion blessed with the presence and guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Let all the charges send up a good report by their pastors and delegates.

"LEG LONGS" FOR SOLDIERS

Our soldiers will not have to worry about warm legs this winter if they will but wear the "leg long" that has been devised by Miss Emma Frohman, sister of the late Charles Frohman, for their comfort. The new garment fits snugly around the tops of the soldier's puttees or canvas leggings and extends upwards to be drawn tight around the waist. It is knitted of very heavy wool and is sure to keep cold away from the wearer's legs.

This photo shows Miss Frohman putting her "leg long" on one of the soldiers. He is also wearing a knitted sweater so there is very little chance of his ever getting cold. Quantities of the new garments will be made at the new workroom of the National League for Women's Service, and they expect to have the "leg long" on the way to the army boys soon.

Everybody can buy War Savings Stamps.

Keep Faith With Your Boy "Over There"

When your boy was so little that all the world was a foreign country to him, he trusted you to take care of him.

You sent that boy to school and to play and on your little errands, and with implicit faith he did your bidding.

Now we have sent your boy or your neighbor's boy out into a foreign land, into terrors that we cannot even know—and his faith has not faltered. He knows we will do our part, and we know he will do his.

Are we keeping the faith? Are we scrimping and saving and giving to help our boys do the thing that humanity has asked of them, and to help them come back to us sane and whole?

A beautiful wedding took place near here June 5 when Walter L. Stam-

A large crowd was invited and sev-

The bride was dressed in a light blue suit.

Directly after the ceremony they left for their future home. Flags were carried as they marched along.

Dinner was announced shortly after arrival and a most delicious meal was enjoyed by 50 or more persons. This was the bridegroom's birthday also, cidents.

Our Children's Day entertainment at Yatesville was a pleasant success, but owing to the storm many of the persons present were compelled to

AMERICAN PRISONERS
MISTREATED IN GERMANY.

With the American Army in France, today, May 31.—A Russian prisoner returned recently from Germany made a statement at Moscow which now is available here to the effect that he saw American prisoners in a camp at Tüchel, West Prussia, and they asked him to let it known that they were being treated brutally. The prisoners said they were hungry and penniless. When the Americans arrived at the camp according to the account, the Germans removed all their clothes. The prisoners were anxious particularly about the Americans' shoes. They said the prisoners that they should not have expensive clothing and shoes, and that their property should be taken care of until their return to America. The Russian said, however, that everyone knows what a Consul—the Russian was not sure whether he was a Swiss or a Spaniard visited the camp. Complaint was made to him by the Americans, and their clothes were returned, but as the Consul seldom visited the camp the Germans had opportunity to practice many injustices.

The Russian said that eight Americans who were captured several months ago reached the camp at midday, and being very hungry, asked for bread. They were told bread was distributed only in the morning. They were placed in a hut with Russians, after being forced to stand in a square, where Germans were given an opportunity to insult them.

The huts in which the Americans are living, the Russian said, are damp, cold and unfit for habitation. Some of the Americans became ill. Two of them who were in a hospital had an opportunity to talk with the Russian, and it was through them that he had obtained the information on which his statement was based.

NEED FOR BLACK WALNUT
CENSUS IS VERY URGENT.

Washington, June 4.—In connection with the black walnut census which President Wilson has asked the Boy Scouts of America to undertake, Henry R. Graves, the Chief of the U. S. Forest Service, has written a letter to the Boy Scouts explaining why the need for the work is urgent.

"The tremendous forest resources of the United States," Colonel Graves stated in a letter, "will undoubtedly be a very important factor in the winning of the war for the allies. One of the most essential timbers for war purposes, as the President points out, is the black walnut. With the exception of mahogany, which has to be imported and thus burdens the shipping facilities of the country, no other wood is so well adapted for airplanes propellers.

"Since four or five propellers are required for each machine and since the black walnut is scarce and only the best grade can be utilized for this purpose, it is important for the Government to know immediately the location of all available supplies. Walnut is also the chief wood used for gunstocks.

"I believe that the Boy Scouts are performing a most valuable patriotic service in undertaking this work. Let me urge you to impress upon the farmers of the country the importance of properly conserving their forests and especially propagating such valuable species as black walnut, which has appropriately been called the Liberty Tree."

J. W. HAMMOND WRITES
LETTER FROM FRANCE.

Mrs. Thurna Hammond, of this city, has received the following letter from her son who is in the navy. She has four sons in the service of their country:

Somewhere in France, May 12, 1918.

Dear Mother:

Just a line or two this morning to let you know that I am getting along alright. Mother, France is a beautiful country and I like over here pretty good. Mother, you can't imagine how different it is from the States. I mean United States. I did not like it very much at first, but now I can speak a little French and get along just fine in that way. Well, mother, answer when you can and tell me all about everything at home.

Your son, J.W.H.

LEXINGTON GIRL'S ESSAY
WINS $50 LIBERTY BOND.

The $50 Liberty Bond offered by Mrs. McDonald, chairman of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee for Kentucky, for the best essay on the Third Liberty Loan, written by a child, was won by little Miss Dorothy Cooper, of Lexington, Ky., who, when she wrote the prize-winning essay, was unaware that she was entering a competition, and thought she was merely following the regular school routine.

Mrs. McDonald sent the bond to the little Lexington girl as soon as the judges had completed their examination of the hundreds of essays entered in the contest.

A man confines his worrying to his own affairs. But a woman has to worry for herself, her husband, her children, her neighbors, her town, her country and her state.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

We have seen a picture by Harris entitled, "No More Home?" We can't forget it. For the first time the young husband staggers into the rich home, intoxicated. And it is a rich home; notice the draperies, the pictures, the furnishings. The baby's crib, which the young mother prays may become its cradle, rocks to sleep innocence. A thousand things are worse than death. The husband wears a flashing diamond, but lacks the diamond of character. See the roses drooping from the vase, withering, dying. See the roses drooping from the wife's heart, withering, dying. The closed piano—music is dead. The light is gone out. No more home. God help those who live in homeless houses—houses where a husband gives black looks and vile oaths; where a woman's sarcastic and sagging tongue drives a man to drink quicker than snake bite; where a lazy son gives abuse and heartbreak instead of gratitude; where a shallow, thoughtless daughter believes it her chief end and aim in life to dress well and marry a bank account and an auto, as though happiness always traveled in a touring car! Deliver us from such a home! Close it up quick! Put up the sign "House For Sale." Better sit on a stump of a tree out in the woods with an umbrella over your head and call that home.

A man cannot do two things at a time. A woman will broil a steak and see that the coffee does not boil over, and watch the cat that she does not steal the remnant of meat on the kitchen table, and dress the youngest boy and set the table and see to the toast and stir the oatmeal and give the orders to the butcher and she can do it all at once and not half try.

Innocent amusements transform tears into rainbows.

No one is anxious about a young man while he is busy at work. But where does he eat his lunch at noon? Where does he go when he leaves his boarding house at night? What does he do after supper? Where does he spend his Sundays and holidays? The way he uses his spare moments reveals his character. The great majority of the youths who go to the bad are ruined after supper. Most of them who climb upwards to honor and fame devote their evenings to study or work or the society of those who can help and improve them. Each evening is a crisis in the career of a young man. There is deep significance in the lines of Whittier:

This day we fashion destiny, our web of fate we spin;
This day for all hereafter choose we holiness or sin.

A true marriage is the soul's Eden. It is a visiting place of angels. It is not given to words to express the refinement of pleasure, the delicacy of joy and the abounding fullness of satisfaction that those feel whom God hath joined in a high marriage of spirit. Such a union is the highest school of virtue, the soul's convent where the vestal fires of purity are kept continually burning. May only such happy unions attend the young men and maidens of our vicinity who may even now be planning their wedding garments.

Whatever happens don't be a sour old man or woman. Old age should be a cheerful period of life, when the lengthened shadows are softened by the setting sun—when quiet twilight steals on apace, soon to be followed by the long night of rest which remains to all living.

Revenge is the only debt which it is wrong to pay.

Man has done wonders since he came before the public. He has navigated the ocean, he has penetrated the mysteries of the starry heavens, he has harnessed the lightning and made it pull street cars and light the great cities of the world. But he can't find a spool of red thread in his wife's work basket; he can't discover her pocket in a dress hanging in the closet; he can't hang out clothes and get them on the line the right side up. He cannot hold clothespins in his mouth while he is doing it; either. He cannot be polite to somebody he hates. He cannot sit in a rocking chair without banging the rockers on the tableboards. He cannot put the tidy on the sofa pillow right side out. He cannot sew on a button. In short, he cannot do a hundred things that women do almost instinctively.

The father returns to his home after a weary day of business. He is tired in body and mind. Coming back as his latch key turns in the home door he throws off care; he is joyous at the thought of the dear ones he will meet after hours of absence. His young daughter in a pretty gown with the bloom and freshness only girlhood wears, should be ready to give him the attention he loves—the kiss, the cheery word—to help her mother and the rest in letting her father see how much he is loved at home.

No matter what a girl's accomplishments may be her education is incomplete if she has not some knowledge of bake-ology, bolt-ology, roast-ology, stitch-ology and mend-ology. Even if she never be required to do the work herself, she ought to know whether it was done in a proper manner.

Poverty is uncomfortable, as we can testify; but nine times out of ten the best thing that can happen to a young man is to be tossed overboard and compelled to sink or swim for himself.

Do not complain of your wife's extravagance with a cigar in your mouth.

If you intend to treat yourself any better than your wife, don't take one.

A lucky man is one whose digestion is so sound that he imagines he has a stomach merely for the purpose of holding up his pants.

The man who spends hours in prayer and nothing in charity is wasting his time. The Lord isn't paying any attention to his prayers.

We are all willing to forgive the man who makes a fool of himself. But we are never willing to forgive the man who makes a fool of us.

ET TU, BRUTE.

It was a dagger in the hands of Brutus, his friend, which convinced Caesar that his doom was sealed "And you, too, Brutus!" he exclaimed and fell.

We could not but recall those touching words when reading the appeal of Director General McAdoo to the heads of the five labor organizations which have threatened to strike in order to improve their class conditions. In them there is a similar surprise and pain. The strike of certain laborers in certain railroad shops in Alexandria has created a very painful impression on the public mind. I cannot believe that these men knew what they were doing. They are all employees now of the United States Government. They are not employees of any railroad corporation; therefore this was a strike against the Government of the United States. It is the first time in the history of our government that any of its employees have taken action to strike against it. Such action is incredible.

Wounded in the house of his friends! The viper stinging the bosom which warmed it into life! The apostle betraying his Master for 30 pieces of silver; the exhausted traveler, after receiving warmth and shelter, robbing and possibly murdering his host; Caesar helping to lift his friend to power and stabbing the heart as a reward.

"Et tu, Brutus!" Good heavens, how sad! We admire the gentleness of General McAdoo's rebuke. We take off our hat to his spirit and charity and forgiveness. "I cannot think these men know what they are doing!" it reminds us of the scene on Calvary. "Father, forgive them—they know not what they do."

But we greatly fear these strikers knew exactly! It is hard, indeed, to be as charitable in our judgment as the Director General was, for the strikers' action looks like taking advantage of a government when it was down and sacrificing the interests of a people to promote a class. It has all the earmarks of indifference to the welfare of the nation as a whole. In all its outward appearance it resembles treason more than ignorance. And yet we shall try to take the General's view, because we think his speech a very noble human document, and believe it worthy a place beside the greatest utterances of our public men.

Upon a single passage of it we feel ourselves impelled to dwell.

"What do you suppose will become of our country if this sort of thing goes on?" he asks and answers.

"The Kaiser would probably get it!" We commend this answer to every man in overalls; to every man in khaki, to every man in serge or broadcloth. We commend it to every woman in kingdom, alk or satin. To be able to consider the situation in Europe today and not perceive that any disloyalty, or indifference, or even ignorance on our part, may result in a German invasion of America, and possibly conquest, is to argue one's self incapable of reasoning soundly.

We believe with all our hearts that the words of this great business man and philosopher cannot be too earnestly heeded in this fatal hour of our nation's life.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DONITHON.

Mrs. Belle Vinson Ramsey departed this life May 20. She was born in this vicinity July 19, 1836 and resided here till about 10 years ago.

Some two or three years ago she went to Huntington, W. Va., and entered training school for nurses in the Keasler Hospital and was there until November 9, 1917 on which date she was married to Joseph W. Ramsey, of Logan, W. Va., who we are told is a highly esteemed citizen and business man.

Her husband had prepared for her a beautiful and commodious home to which they at once repaired where the short period of their wedded life it is said, was spent in unalloyed happiness.

But swiftly and unexpectedly she was seized with the strong hand of affliction and within a few hours of the first attack she passed away. The people of this place, where she spent her childhood and young womanhood, were grieved and shocked upon receiving the sad news, and many expressions of sorrow were heard among the people who knew and loved her. She was kind and genial in disposition and beloved by all who knew her.

Her habitual disposition was cheerful and vivacious, but those who knew her intimately could at times detect an approach to melancholy. Her life was studious, but she was a student of life and people rather than of books. The writer recalls questions asked by her before she had reached her 20th year which indicated a depth of thought extremely rare to one of her age.

See was eminently endowed with those qualities of mind and heart which combine to make up a splendid character. Her personality was peculiarly winsome and attractive and she was dearly loved by those who knew her best.

Several years ago she was converted under the Baptist ministry of Pastor Hamilton, of the Baptist church of Louisa, and almost every time that the writer met her after that time she had something to say about the cause of Christ or her own aims and hopes, all of which revealed a truly religious character. To the bereaved husband and sisters we tender our sincere and heartfelt sympathy. Dear, kind and beloved friend, we hear the loved tones of your voice no more. A great vacancy is left in our hearts, but on the other shore we shall meet and greet you again.

SAILOR WRITES LETTER.

The following letter from a sailor on the Steamship Michigan has been received by an employee of the News office:

Steamship Michigan, June 1.

Dear Hop:

I received your letter a few days ago and it goes without saying that I was glad to hear from you.

We are having good times on the boat, and a smooker is booked for a few nights from now and we will have some enjoyment when it happens. I do not mean to leave the impression that we are ever sad, for we get all we can eat, everything we need to wear, good places to sleep and plenty of all kinds of exercise. Of course the discipline is rigid, but so long as one does as he ought, there is no trouble.

We are a long way from shade trees but make up for that by going in for a swim every day. All we have to do is to fall over the side of the boat, so we use lots of water and try to make it act in place of the shade we used to enjoy.

Once in a while one of the boys will let a little dirt accumulate on his anatomy, and upon inspection the officer will detail two or three to wash this man up. You can rest assured he will not be guilty a second time, for the men detailed to do this job use heavy scrub brushes and a bucket of soft soap. Oh, yes, you have to keep clean on the ships.

I was up for inspection not long since and I thought I was in pretty good shape. The officer approached me and looked me over and asked if I had a razor. I told him I had. He remarked "Why in the d— don't you use it. I have used it pretty regularly since that time."

I was on this boat when the mast fell in the winter killing and wounding several men. The great mass of iron, weighing many tons, fell without warning. One man was cut entirely in half. One had his head split open. Legs were cut off and many injuries received. At the time of the accident many men were on deck being there for fresh air. The boat was leaking slightly and I had been detailed to help on the pumps so suppose I was fortunate. It was an accident caused by a heavy wind and no blame can be attached to anyone.

I know where I am, but that is one thing I am not going to tell you. I only hope I get the opportunity to help capture a German submarine. I am hoping that we will be in the fight, if there is one between the navies, but I do not mean to say that I hope there will be a fight, for it would mean too much loss. But if there is one I will be disappointed if I do not get into it.

Perhaps I may be able to tell you something of navy life the next time I write, but it is a branch of the service that is up to snuff, and I wonder why more young fellows do not join now. Wishing you all kinds of success, I am, Respectfully,
JAMES BRUCE.

WAGES IN GERMANY.

An exhaustive article in a recent number of the Literary Digest gives interesting information as to wages paid in Germany in all classes of labor and trade. Much of the information is obtained from a summary sent out by the general imperial statistical office. It shows the average wages per day in various important groups to be as follows: Metal industry, $1.32; engineering industry, $1.28; electrical industry, $1.07; paper industry, $0.92; woodworking industry, $1.01; chemical industry, $1.24; stoneworking and pottery, $1.07; leather and rubber, $1.20.

The earnings of coal miners run from $2.97 to $3.34 per year. The average earnings of miners in copper mines amount to $2.71. The wages of plumbers are from $1.13 to $1.39 per day. In Butte they are striking for $3 per day. Journeymen printers in Germany get $6.55 to $7.44 a week.

Workmen in Germany will not strike even though they are underpaid. They are sticking to their work because their country needs their labor. It is only in America that men are helping the country win the war by striking.

OBITUARY.

Lewis Pack, aged about 75 years, passed away at his home on Derridge, May 16. Funeral services were conducted by Bro. Vess Hall. He spoke some very touching words concerning death and the resurrection. He had been sick for about four months, and during the last few days of his life he suffered greatly. He said he was prepared to go. On Thursday morning about 4 o'clock he passed peacefully and calmly away to that home of which he so often spoke. The long night of earth is over for Uncle Lewis. He has gone to spend the eternal day of heaven where there is no more death nor sorrow.

Uncle Lewis Pack was known for his peaceful ways. Was a hard working, kind and honest man. He had been a member of the church for several years and had great faith in the Lord until the end.

Think what rest is to those who have suffered and are weary. He is now enjoying that sweet eternal rest where no suffering, toil or care can ever enter.

He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Price, of Fort Gay, and Mrs. Ashbury Daniels, of Charley, and four sons, and many friends and relatives. All of his children were present at the funeral but the oldest son, who lives in Ohio, and on account of sickness in his home could not be with his father in his last days.

When we lay our loved ones to rest, how it lessens our weight of sorrow when they leave bright testimony behind and we can say they are not dead but sleeping. Their spirit has gone to that house not built with hands.

We are walking on after them to the open grave. But a little while at most until we, too, shall have accomplished our work here on earth and go on the journey to never more return.

Sorrow, toil and care all forgotten. We go to live with Jesus. Think of stepping on shore and finding it heaven, of breathing a new air and find it celestial air of passing from storm and tempest to unbroken calm, of waking up and finding it heaven.

Sarah B. Vanhoose.

J. MC BENTLEY WRITES
FROM NORFOLK.

Will try writing a few lines to our old favorite News, as it is about the best way of reaching the hearts of the Sandy Valley homes.

I cannot promise for sure when I will get to visit home again, and will have to say that everything looks rather gloomy for the Samplings but the saying is true and has never failed yet. The darkest time in the night is just before dawn.

As to myself, I am anxious to get started abroad, but 'tis not likely that I will go soon.

When I do go I am willing to give an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

I will tell an incident that took place the latter part of the week. I overheard two rookies conversing, and they were talking about one of our Second Lieutenants. One of them said to the other, I would die and go to, (pardon the expression) H— for that man. Later I was talking with the Lieutenant and told him of the remark, and he laughed good naturedly, and asked me if I would, and I told him that I would die several times for him if necessary, but that I could not promise him about going down there for I did not wish to keep company with bill.

Before closing this letter I wish to say a few words of encouragement to my friends, and I believe I am right. We are bound to win. Germany hasn't the winning heart. They are too cruel to hearts that are full of love and kindness. They torture their captors; they are heartless and do not believe in God and love. They cannot win. God is against them. The good strong hand of the Allies and God-fearing world is against them and should they kill every ally in Europe there will be the rest of the Allied Nations to give them the final thrust, so let our hearts be troubled.

Catarrhal Cough

Mr. W. S. Brown, R. F. D. No. 4, Box 82, Rogersville, Tennessee, writes:

"I feel it my duty to recommend Peruna to all sufferers of catarrh or cough. In the year 1909, I took a severe case of the la grippe. I then took a bad cough. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies but got no relief. I then decided to try Peruna. I used five bottles. After taking five bottles my cough stopped and my catarrh was cured. My average weight was 115 and now I weigh 148½. Any one suffering with catarrh in any form I will advise them to take Peruna."

LOVELY FROCK OF GEORGETTE

Wherever she elects to wear this charming afternoon dress, its owner may do so with the comfortable feeling that it is a work of art. It will not suffer by any sort of comparison, being both beautiful and up to date. Twice it affirms its allegiance to the fashions; once in a long-over skirt and again in the flounce with deep tucks over the hips and at the back. An applique of satin, outlined with embroidery in a braid pattern challenges our admiration. It is a new idea adapted with cleverness to a beautiful and useful gown.

WORK AMONG ALIENS

College Women Training for Americanization Campaign.

Opportunity for Splendid Service by Those Having Knowledge of Foreign Languages.

Washington.—The knowledge of foreign languages which before the war seemed almost superfluous equipment and of little practical use except as a finishing touch to an education of culture, is now being appreciated by the demand for volunteers to work with aliens, and spread the ideal of Americanization. One of the four war courses at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is "training for work with aliens," taken by those who have conversational command of a modern language. This course will fit young women for work in citizenship, translation, the education of aliens and other social work connected with alien supervision.

Young college women in Cleveland are giving evenings to educating foreigners. War news is printed daily in various languages, and posted in the school centers and questions are encouraged and answered.

The University of Wisconsin Y. W. C. A. social service committee is conducting a Big Sister movement among Italian children, and works with a neighborhood house in the Jewish quarter. The College Alumnae association of Minneapolis, Minn., has a national aid committee which supplies volunteers to teach English to foreign soldiers and civilians.

Miss Edith Bennett, head of the Chicago Collegiate Alumnae Bureau of Occupations, reports many calls in the fall for secretaries and translators with a knowledge of French and Spanish. Swarthmore classes in elementary German have shrunk this year, while Spanish has won a sudden popularity, the classes having tripled in enrollment.

PRETTY IN BLUE AND WHITE

She would be pretty in anything, but her happiness is complete in a dress of Japan blue chambray trimmed with a narrow edging of heavy cluny lace. It has a collar of the chambray extended into tabs that fasten down with a pearl button. The pockets are lace and button-trimmed, too.

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.

Scott & Borne, Bloomfield, N.J.

MY GIFT.

By Mabel Hubbard Birch.

To champion thy liberty;

Or none to give in charity;
All I can offer are my hands

Use them in ways thou seest fit,
To save thy grain, to sew or knit.

To aid thee in the valiant fight.

LOVELY FROCK OF GEORGETTE

Wherever she elects to wear this charming afternoon dress, its owner may do so with the comfortable feeling that it is a work of art. It will not suffer by any sort of comparison, being both beautiful and up to date. Twice it affirms its allegiance to the tonic; once in a long-over skirt and again in the flounce with deep tucks over the hips and at the back. An applique of satin, outlined with embroidery in a braid pattern challenges our admiration. It is a new idea adapted with cleverness to a beautiful and useful gown.

WORK AMONG ALIENS

College Women Training for Americanization Campaign.

Opportunity for Splendid Service by Those Having Knowledge of Foreign Languages.

Washington.—The knowledge of foreign languages which before the war seemed almost superfluous equipment and of little practical use except as a finishing touch to an education of culture, is now being appreciated by the demand for volunteers to work with aliens, and spread the ideal of Americanization. One of the four war courses at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is "training for work with aliens," taken by those who have conversational command of a modern language. This course will fit young women for work in citizenship, translation, the education of aliens and other social work connected with alien supervision.

Young college women in Cleveland are giving evenings to educating foreign-born citizens. War news is printed daily in various languages, and posted in the school centers and questions are encouraged and answered.

The University of Wisconsin Y. W. C. A. social service committee is conducting a Big Sister movement among Italian children, and works with a neighborhood house in the Jewish quarter. The Collegiate Alumnae association of Minneapolis, Minn., has a national aid committee which supplies volunteers to teach English to foreign soldiers and civilians.

Swarthmore classes in elementary German have shrunk this year, while Spanish has won a sudden popularity, the classes having tripled in enrollment.

PRETTY IN BLUE AND WHITE

WHAT CATARRH IS

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors only irritate and do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. It is helping thousands. Try it.
